

SUMMARY

Imran joined Regeneris Consulting after completing his MA in Economics at the University of Manchester. He has been involved in a number of studies across our core service areas, including economic impact, large scale evaluations and economic research projects. Imran is experienced in gathering and analysing socio-economic data and policy information from a wide range of sources, as well as developing economic impact models.

SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

ECONOMIC IMPACT ASSESSMENT

Imran is experienced in economic impact assessment. He leads on Regeneris' business tourism work and has developed economic impact models for VisitScotland, VisitEngland, and London & Partners. He also helped assess the economic impact of BT & EE's on the UK economy, and has recently worked on a number of economic impact assessments for both residential and commercial developments.

SOCIO-ECONOMIC ANALYSIS AND PRESENTATION

Imran can capably manipulate and interrogate complex datasets, gathered from a wide-range of sources, in order to sort, analyse and extract key information. Imran is proficient in the use of GIS mapping software to visualise geographical data and produce customised thematic maps, as well as produce infographics to summarise analysis.

POLICY AND PROGRAMME EVALUATION

Imran has worked across several evaluation projects, particularly ERDF funded interventions in areas such as Access to Finance. Imran also worked on the ex-ante assessment of Financial Instruments for SMEs in England for the 2014-20 programme period and the Final Evaluation of the Welsh JEREMIE Fund. He has also undertaken survey design, management and data analysis for Regeneris' evaluation of DEFRA's Rural Community Broadband Fund and the evaluation of the National Aerospace Technology Exploitation Programme.

APPRAISAL AND BUSINESS CASE WORK

Imran has become involved in our appraisal work, and has appraised a number of bids for grant funding for the Textile Growth Fund, as well full business cases for Growth Deal Funding. He has also worked on a number of economic and business cases for clients to secure funding, and is familiar with Green Book techniques and the Five Case Model.
